

WEBINAR

A TOUR OF THE MINI-GUIDE TO SBIRT FOR YOUTH

Addressing Substance Use and Co-Occurring Risk

TWO OPPORTUNITIES TO ATTEND

Monday, April 26, 2021 @ 3-4pm ET (2CT/1MT/12PT) &
Wednesday, April 28, 2021 @ 2-3pm ET (1CT/12MT/11PT)

DESCRIPTION

Youth substance use is common and can result in substance use related problems and substance use disorders. Substance use prevention and treatment are both effective, but too few youth are reached with these important services and programs. This webinar will explore opioid and other substance use, and co-occurring risks among youth. It will also describe the core elements of screening, brief intervention, and referral to treatment (SBIRT) with youth specifically around opioid and other substance use and co-occurring risk for depression, anxiety, and suicide. Lastly, it will describe training materials and resources available for behavioral health professionals who work with youth and how to gain access.

PRESENTER

Tracy McPherson, PhD

Tracy McPherson, PhD, is a Senior Research Scientist in the Public Health Department at NORC at the University of Chicago. For more than 18 years she has led substance use and mental health prevention/early intervention projects funded by government agencies and foundations. Her work has focused on translating research into practice – assisting medical and behavioral health organizations implement clinical practice informed by scientific evidence, build workforce capacity, and evaluate the impact of practice change. Dr. McPherson is the Evaluation, Training, and Technical Assistance Lead on NORC's Screening, Brief Intervention, and Referral to Treatment (SBIRT) projects. As part of this work she leads learning collaboratives focused on improving access to screening, brief intervention, referral to treatment and follow-up care for risky alcohol and other substance use. Dr. McPherson is the Principal Investigator of the Conrad N. Hilton Foundation grant, Integrating Adolescent SBIRT in Social Work and Nursing Education, a national workforce development initiative to infuse adolescent SBIRT training in social work, nursing, and interprofessional programs (<https://sbirt.webs.com>). Dr. McPherson holds a PhD in Applied Social Psychology from The George Washington University.

Funding for this initiative was made possible (in part) by grant no. 1H79T1083343 from SAMHSA. The views expressed in written conference materials or publications and by speakers and moderators do not necessarily reflect the official policies of the Department of Health and Human Services; nor does mention of trade names, commercial practices, or organizations imply endorsement by the U.S. Government.

To learn more and register:

 <https://attendee.gotowebinar.com/rt/2806305931246642187>

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- Overview of opioid and other substance use, and co-occurring risks among youth
- Review evidence-based strategies
- Present training materials available and how to gain access

Opioid Response
Network