Deaths by overdose and suicide continue to increase despite state and national efforts. Individuals with substance use disorders are at increased risk for suicide. Efforts to jointly address substance use and suicide are warranted. This webinar describes suicide risk among those who misuse substances and details multiple strategies for joint prevention, intervention, and treatment in the community and in various service settings.

Learning Objectives:

- Describe how substance use and suicide are related
- List ways in which communities can implement prevention strategies targeting substance misuse and suicide
- Explain a method of jointly addressing substance misuse and suicide risk in general health care settings
- Describe how substance use disorder treatment providers may identify and intervene with patients at increased risk of suicide

- Ideal for social work and nursing students, educators, and clinical supervisors, as well as mental health counselors, substance use professionals, medical professionals, professional counselors, psychologists, employee assistance professionals, and other helping professionals that are interested in learning about SBIRT
- Use with clinical supervision or watch together with your colleagues
- Free Certificates of Attendance for everyone
- Only need a computer/internet connection or a smartphone (compatible with PC, Mac, iPad, iPhone, Android)
