Gender diverse youth are at increased risk for body image concerns and disordered eating. However, the presentation and characteristics differ from those observed in cisgender youth. In this webinar, you will learn how to best care for patients with both gender dysphoria and disordered eating.

This free webinar discusses how gender-diverse youth present with disordered eating. Gender-affirming friends, family, and providers can help reduce the risk for development of or persistence of disordered eating. After viewing the webinar, you will be able to:

- ✓ Understand the prevalence and characteristics of eating disorders in gender diverse youth
- ✓ Recommend resources where patients, families, and providers can seek additional support for care of gender diverse youth with eating disorders
- ✓ Manage gender-related needs in conjunction with an eating disorder
